

Para Archery

Opportunity for Countries

Federations without a para archery organisation are given an opportunity to start with an adaptive course for archery coaches in Lausanne on 21-23 September 2018. Registration will close soon but some places are still available. Participants do not need to have para experience. Some member associations that have been contacted can apply for full scholarship, including flights.

Coaching

Coach Trainers Course

The Austrian Archery Federation (OBSV) hosted a level 1 coach trainers course in Salzburg, Austria, on 18-28 June, funded by Olympic Solidarity and World Archery Europe, with the support of World Archery. The eight participants from Saudi Arabia, Romania, Turkey, Slovenia, Malta, Estonia, Great Britain and Namibia were trained by Pascal Colmaire, World Archery Development and Education Director, assisted by Martin Ptacnik and OBSV.

World Archery Excellence Centre

In September, coach Kim Hyung Tak will visit the World Archery Excellence Centre and conduct a two-day workshop for coaches and a three-day camp for archers. Also, registration for the World Archery level 2 course in November and level 3 course in December has already started.

Achievements

Recognition

Three-time Hyundai Archery World Cup Champion Sara Lopez now has an archery range carrying her name. The new facility, which opened on 15 June, is in her hometown of Pereira and makes her one of the few living Colombian athletes to have received such recognition.

Hellenic Olympic Committee Award

On 22 May 2018, the Hellenic Olympic Committee and its Sport & Woman Committee awarded Evelyn Papadopoulou, World Archery Gender Equity Committee Chair and Hellenic Archery Federation Secretary General, for her contribution to the Olympic Movement, during the second meeting of women sports executives, as part of the "Women in Action" programme. Successful athletes of the past had the opportunity to meet the new generation, discuss shared concerns and problems, exchange views and make proposals for the participation of more women in the Greek Athletic Movement.

Longines Prize for Precision

France's Thomas Chirault was awarded the Prize for Precision at the third stage of the 2018 Hyundai Archery World Cup in Salt Lake City, USA. He shot 60 total 10s through qualification and third-round-plus matchplay, the most of any of the recurve men. Stage winner Mauro Nespoli of Italy came second with 56 10s.

Turkish Record

Turkish Olympian Mete Gazoz advanced to – and won – the gold medal match at the 2018 Mediterranean Games in Tarragona after setting a new national record for the 72-arrow 70-metre ranking round of 683/720 points. The 19-year-old dropped just 12 points over his back 36 arrows for the career-high score and top seed.

Youth Olympic Games	Buenos Aires (ARG)	Achieve MQS Scores: 24 July

Salt Lake City

Three-time Hyundai Archery World Cup Final Champion Sara Lopez beat Linda Ochoa-Anderson of Mexico by 17 points, 140 to 123, to claim compound women's individual gold at the third stage of the 2018 Hyundai Archery World Cup in Salt Lake City, USA. She dedicated the victory to her grandmother.

World #1 Stephan Hansen secured a place to the Samsun Final with victory over Abhishek Verma, 140-132, in a windy final in Salt Lake. He joins Kim Jongho and Mike Schloesser as confirmed on the Hyundai Archery World Cup Final roster, with USA athlete Braden Gellenthien all-but-confirmed on points - and leading the ranking after three of four stages of the tour.

Italy's Mauro Nespoli became the third recurve man qualified for season ending in Turkey after he beat Steve Wijler of the Netherlands, 6-2, in the final. It is the 30-year-old's first individual win on the international tour and pushes him up to fourth in the world rankings.

Steve Wijler, although he was reluctant to let people know of the situation so that it wasn't interpreted as an excuse, shot the finals and his early eliminations in Salt Lake with a fracture in his drawing hand. Considering the injury, the silver medal was impressive.

Four-time Hyundai Archery World Cup Final silver medallist Deepika Kumari beat Michelle Kroppen of Germany, 7-3, to take recurve women's gold at the Salt Lake City stage and book a ticket to the circuit Final. It will be her seventh appearance at the season-ending event.
