Para Archery Adaptive Course

A para archery adaptive coaching seminar was held in the World Archery Excellence Centre on 21-23 September. The course was supported by the International Paralympic Committee, the AGITOS foundation and World Archery. The objective was to increase the knowledge of para archery coaching, creating an opportunity for existing coaches to improve their understanding of working with impaired athletes by learning from world-class experts.

The course was delivered by MJ Rogers, a USA Archery assistant coach for the Rio 2016 and London 2012 Olympic Games, who also coached a Canadian archer at the Athens 2004 Olympic Games. Rogers headed up the writing of the Adaptive Archery Educational Manual in the USA and is also the current coach of notable US para archers Matt Stutzman and Eric Bennett.

Events

Indoor World Series

Registrations are now being accepted for all six events on the calendar of the 2018 Indoor Archery World Series. The circuit runs from November to February 2019 and features events in Luxembourg, China, Italy, Korea, France and the USA. Each of the tournaments is open entry, meaning archers register themselves rather than needing to be part of a national team. Information about schedule, accommodation and payments can be found on the organising committee webpages.

Open WAREOS

All registration for Indoor Archery World Series events is completed through Open WAREOS. The event rules specify that the tournaments are open entry, meaning athletes register themselves as long as they are a current member of a World Archery member association.

Athletes should be aware that member associations have seven days to confirm eligibility. If there is any doubt, refrain from booking air tickets for seven days - after which time, if no action has been taken, confirmation is automatic.

Member associations receive a notification each time an athlete registers and it is the responsibility of the federation to check whether that athlete is in good standing. Member associations have seven days to flag invalid registrations through Open WAREOS. This flag may be removed later if the athlete becomes in good standing. Registration will automatically be considered valid if no flag is raised within seven days.

Registered athletes will be added to the entry list following payment and confirmation from the tournament organiser.

Samsun 2018

The 2018 Hyundai Archery World Cup Final took place in Samsun, Turkey on 29/30 September. Two new champions emerged by winning gold medal matches against surprise challengers from the host nation, with the USA's Kris Schaff beating Demir Elmaagacli to the compound men's title and Korea's first-year international Lee Eun Gyeong taking recurve women's gold ahead of Yasemin Anagoz.

Sara Lopez won her fourth title at the World Cup Final, drawing level with Brady Ellison for the most ever by a single athlete, and Kim Woojin took his third. A random draw was used to determine the brackets for the first time.

The week finished with Germany winning both senior team titles; Swedish barebow couple Lina Bjorklund (3) and Erik Jonsson (5) adding to their world title tallies; Lisa Unruh defending her recurve women's crown, and Japan's Oonuki Wataru taking an unlikely men's victory.

Target archery's world number one, Mike Schloesser of the Netherlands, won gold in the compound men's event in his debut on the field course, while the USA's Paige Pearce took the compound women's win.
